

SINGER IN CELLAR OF TABERNACLE WAS WANDERING PATIENT

Hymns sung in a deep, baritone voice passed persons passing the Broadway Tabernacle at Fifty-sixth street, early today, and William Fearn, the sexton, was notified. He searched the church for the "ghost" music, and found the singer in the cellar, attired in pajamas. He was Rudolph C. Smith, twenty-eight years old, a civil engineer employed by the Public Service Commission. One doctor says Smith is suffering from overstudy and another that he has typhoid fever. After he had been taken to Bellevue the details of some of his recent peculiar wanderings became known. He is described as an unusually bright young man, devoted to his profession. He has been studying hard recently in preparation for civil service examinations. He lives at No. 22 West Fifty-fifth street and has been attentive to a young lady living on the upper west side, but now visiting friends in Meriden, Conn. Young Smith disappeared on Wednesday last and returned on Saturday. It developed that he had started to Meriden by way of Canada, and had been turned back at the boundary line. Frita Norf, a nurse, was engaged to look after him. Early Sunday Smith escaped and, dressed in keeping with the torrid weather, roamed around until he reached the home of his sweetheart. In the vestibule he met his prospective father-in-law, who was on his way to church, and announced he had called on the family. He was taken into the parlor and left to play the piano until his friends could be notified. While they were being telephoned for, Smith slipped out of the house and returned home. Yesterday morning he again evaded his nurse and was found parading down Ninth avenue at Fifty-fifth street by Policeman Hellmuth of the West Forty-seventh street station. He was sent home. Last night he told the nurse he was going to the bathroom for a drink of water, and that was the last seen of him until he was found in the cellar of the Tabernacle early today, singing hymns. The Bellevue doctors think he will be well again in a few weeks.

Thrown From Motorcycle, Hurt.
George Allinger, twenty-six, of No. 177 Leonard street, and Thomas Abrams, sixteen, of No. 132 Leonard street, were thrown from a motorcycle this morning in a collision with a wagon at Bedford avenue and Wall about street, Brooklyn, and badly shaken up. Allinger, after being patched up in a drug store, was taken to the Eastern District Hospital. One of his legs was broken.
